

OTC CG serves as celebrity guest in The Nutcracker

Staff Sgt. Todd Pruden | 301st PAD

Brig. Gen. Scott Spellmon, Operational Test Command commanding general, performs his role as Mother Ginger during Ballet Austin's presentation of "The Nutcracker" at the Long Center in Austin Dec. 20.

Staff Sgt. Todd Pruden | 301st PAD

Brig. Gen. Scott Spellmon, OTC commanding general, enters his dressing room before his performance as the celebrity guest before Ballet Austin's presentation of "The Nutcracker" at the Long Center in Austin Dec. 20.

Staff Sgt. Todd Pruden | 301st PAD

Brig. Gen. Scott Spellmon and his Family pose under the prop he is about to wear before Ballet Austin's presentation of "The Nutcracker" at the Long Center in Austin Dec. 20. He was the celebrity guest playing the role of Mother Ginger, representing the Fort Hood community.

Staff Sgt. Todd Pruden | 301st PAD

Brig. Gen. Scott Spellmon, OTC commanding general, has his makeup applied before Ballet Austin's presentation of "The Nutcracker" at the Long Center in Austin. He was the celebrity guest, playing the role of Mother Ginger, representing the Fort Hood community.

Source: Fort Hood Sentinel, January 8, 2015